Politically biased election observation in Azerbaijan

Dear Mr President,

During the early Parliamentary elections in Azerbaijan held on 9 February 2020, Mr. Antonio Anastasia, member of the Federal Senate of Brazil and member of the Social Democracy Party, has been active as an international election observer in the country. During his stay in Azerbaijan Mr. Anastasia gave overwhelmingly positive public assessments of the elections. His findings contradicted the conclusions of the international election observation mission of the ODIHR-OSCE and of the independent local citizen election observers' organization "Election Monitoring and Democracy Study Centre" (EMDS) – the local EPDE member organisation¹. EPDE has recently published a research on politically biased election observation of these elections in Azerbaijan. In this research you may find more background information on this non-official mission².

The Code of Conduct for International Election Observers states that international election observation missions must be of sufficient size to "determine independently and impartially the character of election processes in a country and must be of sufficient duration to determine the character of all of the critical elements of the election process in the pre-election, election-day and post-election period."³

The assessments presented by Mr. Anastasia stood in sharp contrast to those rules. Moreover, by deliberately contradicting the findings of the ODIHR-OSCE long-term election observation mission, Mr. Anastasia aimed at misinforming the Azerbaijan audience about the real international perception of the electoral process. This can be seen as an attempt to damage the reputation both of the international observation mission of ODIHR /OSCE and of the Senate of Brazil.

EPDE has reasons to believe that Mr. Anastasia was accredited as international election observer on invitation and financed through the Authorities of Azerbaijan, which calls into question the strict political impartiality as required by the Code of Conduct for International Election Observers.

EPDE therefore kindly asks you to provide information on the following:

- Whether Mr. Anastasia was member of an official delegation of the Federal Senate of Brazil?
- Whether Mr. Anastasia has informed the Federal Senate of Brazil about his intention to observe the Parliamentary elections in Azerbaijan?
- Whether Mr. Anastasia has informed the Federal Senate of Brazil who has organized and financed his participation at the elections in Azerbaijan?

EPDE is a network of independent citizen election observers in Europe aiming to defend the integrity of elections and to improve civic oversight over electoral processes. EPDE is concerned about ongoing efforts of some states to whitewash fraudulent elections with the help of international politicians who participate in politically biased "election observation missions". We encourage all affected Parliaments – in Europe and worldwide - to protect their international reputation and to monitor the integrity of international activities of their members. We encourage Parliaments and political factions to adapt their Rules of Procedure and Codes of Conduct accordingly in order to inform and prevent their members from intentionally or unintentionally participating in such harmful activities.

We would be glad to receive answers from your side on the upon-mentioned case and stand ready to provide from our side any further information on the topic if needed.

Yours faithfully,

Stefanie Schiffer
